

Dr. Narasimhan works for Northwell Health as the Director of Critical Care Services and is an attending in the Division of Pulmonary, Critical Care and Sleep Medicine. She is the Medical Director of the Northwell Acute Lung Injury Center/VV ECMO program. She is a Professor of Medicine at the Zucker School of Medicine at Hofstra/Northwell. She is board certified in internal medicine, pulmonary medicine, critical care medicine and sleep medicine. She has been at Northwell Health for 11 years. Her undergraduate studies were at Barnard College in NY, and medical school was at the University of Health Sciences in Kansas City. She did her residency, chief residency and fellowship at Beth Israel Medical Center, NY. Dr. Narasimhan has been teaching point of care ultrasound nationally for 20 years and is a testamur of the American Board of Echocardiography. Her research interests include point of care ultrasound in the critically ill, ECMO for acute lung injury and outcomes research in the ICU. She also serves on many leadership roles for CHEST, including the education committee and the Chair of Live Learning. She has been the Chair or Co-Chair for over 15 Chest national and international courses. She has over 65 publications in various topics of critical care medicine and a large number of regional, national and international presentations. She has given many community service presentations on sleep topics, anti-tobacco and vaping.